

1H//819586(039)

SOCIO-ECONOMIC HUMAN RIGHTS IN ESSENTIAL PUBLIC SERVICES PROVISION

Edited by Marlies Hesselman, Antenor Hallo de Wolf and Brigit Toebes

HUMAN RIGHTS AND INTERNATIONAL LAW

ROUTLEDGE

Contents

Notes on contributors	viii
Foreword	xi
1 Common challenges for socio-economic human rights and essential public services provision	1
MARLIES HESSELMAN, ANTENOR HALLO DE WOLF AND BRIGIT TOEBES
PART I
Socio-economic human rights for essential public services provision: trends and issues	21
2 Reconciling international obligations and local realities: provision of pain control medication in resource-constrained countries – experiences from Uganda	23
MARIE ELSKE C. GISPEN
3 The right to health and TRIPS: access to essential medicines and patenting in India	44
JENNIFER SELLIN
4 Access to water services: the World Bank and water rights	65
MÓNIKA AMBRUS
5 Is cutting people’s electricity off ‘cut off’ from the ratione materiae jurisdiction of the CJEU and the ECtHR?	83
PANOS MERKOURIS
6 Disaster management in EU law: solidarity among individuals and among States	103
MAURO GATTI

PART II

The role of private actors in essential public services provision	121
7 EU public service obligations and their potential for human rights protection	123
IRIS HOUBEN AND HETTY TEN OEVER
8 Private providers of essential public services and de jure responsibility for human rights	139
LOTTIE LANE
9 Pharmaceutical companies and intellectual property protection: human rights actors or recipients?	160
SHAMISO PHILOMINA ZINZOMBE
10 The responsibility of business enterprises to restore access to essential public services at resettlement sites	180
LIDEWIJ VAN DER PLOEG, FRANK VANCLAY AND IVO LOURENÇO

PART III

Participation and accountability for essential public services provision	203
11 ‘Participation’ for all? Challenges and tools to realise participation for vulnerable persons with a focus on health services	205
TITTI MATTSSON
12 Mobilising public participation as a requirement of the right to health in the context of China’s air pollution	222
HUANLIN LANG
13 Individual inputs and collective outputs: understanding the structural benefits of individual litigation on healthcare in Brazil	241
DANIELLE DA COSTA LEITE BORGES
14 Access to effective remedies for the protection of human rights in essential public services provision in Colombia	256
JIMENA MURILLO CHÁVARRO
15 The media’s role in ensuring social accountability for the right to health in China	275
YI ZHANG

PART IV
Conclusion	297
16 International guideposts for essential public services provision and socio-economic human rights	299
MARLIES HESSELMAN, ANTENOR HALLO DE WOLF AND BRIGIT TOEBES
Index	328