

1W//819397(039)

Business and Human Rights

History, law and policy –
bridging the accountability gap

Nadia Bernaz

Human Rights and International Law

Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
1 Introduction	1
The impact of business on human rights	1
Business and human rights, corporate social responsibility and related concepts	3
The accountability gap	8
Structure of the book	10
Bibliography	13
PART I
Historical highlights: limited accountability	15
2 The Atlantic slave trade: a business and human rights reading	17
The early days of the slave trade	20
The practicalities of the slave trade	22
The expansion and high point of the slave trade	25
The Dutch West India Company and the human rights and business dilemma	26
The unevenly successful operations of chartered companies	28
Slave traders as philanthropists	30
The high point of the slave trade	31
The abolition of the slave trade in British colonies and the business case	32
Outlawing the slave trade and slavery under international law	37
Conclusion	39
Bibliography	40

3	International labour law: early development and contemporary significance for the field of business and human rights	43
	International labour law: a concise history	44
	International labour law and business and human rights	52
	Are labour rights human rights?	52
	Principles, standards and rights	56
	Conclusion	57
	Bibliography	59
4	Doing business with the Nazis: the criminal prosecution of German industrialists after the Second World War	62
	The 'economic case' at Nuremberg	63
	The Nuremberg trials against industrialists and bankers	68
	Knowledge as the mental element in complicity liability	69
	The defence of necessity	72
	Conclusion	75
	Bibliography	77
	PART II
	International law and policy: limitations and progress	79
5	Business, international human rights law and international criminal law: shifting boundaries	81
	The Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the development of international human rights law	81
	Are multinational corporations subjects of international law?	86
	The contours of corporate human rights responsibilities	92
	The direct and indirect obligations dichotomy	93
	Which rights are relevant?	101
	International enforcement	104
	The Mixed Commissions: slave trading on trial	105
	The International Criminal Court and corporate crimes	107
	Monitoring mechanisms and the World Court of Human Rights	109
	Conclusion	111
	Bibliography	111

6	Human rights and international economic law: connecting the dots	118
	International economic law: main features and interplay with human rights 120
	International trade law 120
	International investment law 121
	Human rights considerations in investment and trade disputes 124
	Policy space in investment and trade disputes 124
	Human rights claims by investors 136
	Human rights claims against investors 138
	Towards a greater emphasis on human rights in international economic law 142
	Mainstreaming human rights considerations in investment law 143
	Including a labour rights clause in trade agreements 147
	The human rights obligations of international organizations 149
	Conclusion 155
	Bibliography 156
7	International soft law initiatives on business and human rights	163
	Drafting codes of conduct in the 1970s: confrontation and the New International Economic Order 164
	The UN Global Compact 176
	The Draft Norms on the Responsibilities of Transnational Corporations and Other Business Enterprises 185
	The 'Protect, Respect and Remedy Framework' and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights 190
	The Protect, Respect and Remedy Framework 190
	The Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights 193
	The OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises 196
	Conclusion 203
	Bibliography 204
8	Private regulation in business and human rights	209
	Corporate self-regulatory initiatives: human rights policies and codes of conduct 212
	The early days of codes of conduct 212
	Monitoring compliance with codes of conduct 214
	Codes of conduct and consumer protection 215
	Sector initiatives and socially responsible investment 217

The Sullivan Principles 218
Voluntary monitoring initiatives: public–private partnerships and multi-stakeholder initiatives 220
Certification schemes 222
Conclusion 225
Bibliography 225

PART III

Domestic law and policy: embedding human rights in business practice 229

9 Shaping law and public policies to address corporate human rights impact 231

Domestic policies 232
Policies with extraterritorial implications 234
 Early examples of measures with extraterritorial implications 235
 US local authorities and the fight against Apartheid in the 1970s and 1980s 238
 Public procurement 245
 Export credit 248
 Reporting and transparency requirements 251
Conclusion 252
Bibliography 253

10 Business and human rights litigation before domestic courts:
progress and remaining obstacles 257

Business and human rights civil claims 259
 Alien Tort Statute litigation in the United States 260
 Main features and key cases 260
 Establishing liability of parent companies for the acts of their foreign subsidiaries 263
 Issues of jurisdiction and justiciability 265
 Corporate complicity liability: aiding and abetting human rights violations 271
Business and human rights civil litigation outside the United States 274
 ‘Brussels I’ Regulation, civil universal jurisdiction and the doctrine of forum necessitatis 275
 Parent company liability 278
 The problem of applicable law 280

Tort litigation versus human rights litigation	283
Prosecuting business and human rights violations	284
Jurisdictional issues and prosecutorial discretion	284
Corporate versus individual liability	285
Establishing complicity liability under criminal law	288
Conclusion	289
Bibliography	291
11 The future of business and human rights	296
Bibliography	298
Index	300